004 How can I get these updates? Thanks A: You don't need to get them from Microsoft. You can just install them. You should be able to get them from the MySQL website. Look for a zip file, extract it and find the files you need. Carotid Artery Stenting in the Emergency Department: A Review of Indications, Complications, and Outcomes. Carotid artery stenting (CAS) is increasingly being performed in the emergency department (ED). Our objectives were to determine the indications for CAS in the ED, characterize complications, and assess the efficacy of CAS in an ED setting. A single-institution database was queried for patients who underwent CAS in the ED from January 2005 to October 2013. Patients were included if they had a coronary artery disease (CAD) indication for CAS and no coexistent carotid or intracranial artery disease. Demographics, indications for CAS, and complications were recorded. The primary outcome was 30-day stroke/death. Thirty-day stroke/death rates and independent predictors of outcomes were assessed. Of 1,511 patients who underwent CAS in the ED, 46 (3%) had CAD as the indication for CAS. Among these patients, 11 (24%) underwent CAS in the ED for acute stroke. The 30-day stroke/death rates were 33.3% (4/12) for patients with CAD versus 3.4% (4/121) for those with other CAD indications (P =.01). The 30-day stroke/death rates for CAS in the ED for acute stroke were 27.3% (6/22) for patients with severe stroke (modified Rankin Scale [mRS] score ≥3) and 30.8% (4/13) for patients with intermediate to severe stroke (mRS score 2-3). Independent predictors of stroke/death were nonmodifiable risk factors (odds ratio, 1.91; 95% confidence interval, 0.42-8.87; P =.37), and admission National Institutes of Health Stroke Scale (NIHSS) score (odds ratio, 1.20; 95% confidence interval, 1.05-1.37; P =.01). CAS in the ED was a safe and effective alternative to carotid endarterectomy (CEA) in patients with acute carotid artery stenosis and severe stroke/death 82157476af
